LOCATION

The Australian War Memorial's magnificent heritage building is situated beneath picturesque Mt Ainslie, only two minutes from the city centre and ten minutes from the airport. Internationally recognised as one of the world's great museums, the Memorial is renowned for its extensive collection of art, relics, photographs, film and sound that commemorates the sacrifice of Australians at war.

VENUE

Where else in Australia can you wine and dine among large technology items, authentic objects and great works of art depicting Australia's military history? The Memorial's ANZAC Hall offers a unique dining experience. With the recent addition of Over the front: the Great War in the air to ANZAC Hall, this truly is a venue with a difference. Dine among five rare First World War aircraft while watching an outstanding film by Peter Jackson on the big screen.

Hyatt Catering at the Australian War Memorial: Hyatt caters for all function venues at the Memorial, including ANZAC Hall, an impressive exhibition space housing some of the Memorial's largest exhibits. The mezzanine level overlooking ANZAC Hall is ideal for cocktails.

TECHNICAL

The Memorial's BAE Systems Theatre offers leading-edge conferencing with full professional support. The theatre includes broadcast-quality fibre optics, multipoint video conferencing with full audience participation, and hearing-impaired closed-loop audio. It has three high-resolution data projectors, single and multi slide projectors, a digital document scanner, video overhead projector, 16 mm projector and 35 mm motion picture projector with full Dolby Sound and much more.

VENUE HIGHLIGHTS

Memorial Director Steve Gower says, "The Memorial's outstanding galleries tell the stories of servicemen and women in an engaging and uplifting way. The recent completion of the Conflicts 1945 to today galleries and the new exhibition Over the front: the Great War in the air ensures the Memorial remains at the cutting edge of museum technology."

Over the front: the Great War in the air features unique aircraft from the Memorial's collection, including three allied aircraft and two German fighter planes. Young men risked their lives in combat high over the Western Front. Their experiences are brought to life in an outstanding multimedia re-creation by internationally renowned film director Peter Jackson.

1. Award-winning venue and attraction
2. Dine among wartime relics
3. Global communication conference facility
4. Stunning film by award-winning director Peter Jackson in Over the front: the Great War in the air.
